Small Blaze

Last Thursday evening at about 8:30 o'clock the residence of Judd Allen in the southern part of the town caught fire. The alarm was given at once and with the aid of neighbors who responded to the call and the use of two or three barrels of water which stood near the house, the fire was extinguished before much damage was done, not, however, until the contents had been moved into the street.

We are not informed whether the property was insured.

Mr. Fielder in Arizona.

James S. Fielder spent last week in Tombstone, Ariz., attending to legal business before the court there. Speaking of his trip Mr. Fielder said:

"I was greatly pleased with that portion of Arizona. I spent most of the time at Tombstone, where I had some legal business before the court, both the Territorial and United States courts being in session. The jurors for the territory and for the United States struck me as being men of fine intelligence and thoroughly American, all speaking English.

"Tombstone is the county seat of Cochise county, one of the richest counties in the West. One citizen boldly claimed that Cochise county produced more wealth annually than the whole Territory of New Mexico, but he don't know anything about the amount of chile and frioles that we produce on the Mimbres river; and I felt sorry for his ignorance.

"Tombstone was once a famous silver producing mining camp, but upon the decline in the price of silver it was almost deserted. The old mines are now being reopened by capitalists who intend to work them on a large scale, and new mines bearing copper have been discovered in that vicinity, and are now being successfully worked. Tombstone is beautifully located, is clean and healthy, and full of intelligent looking people, and everyone there seems to be busy and prosperous.

"I spent one day in Bisbee, the great smelting town. The town is miserably located, and must be very unhealthy in summer. It would be an easy matter for a fellow who happened to be a wee bit 'loaded' to fall on top of his neighbor's house. The houses are built around the hillsides, rising gradually above each other from the canyon to the top of the mountain. It is very picturesque.

"I talked with several prominent citizens on the subject of statehood and found them all violently opposed to uniting with New Mexico as one State. They claim that Arizona is an American territory, while three-fourths of our people do not speak English, and it is necessary to interpret the English language to our jurors. This is only one of many objections raised by them. I told them that we expected to bankrupt ourselves in buying perfume to spill upon them in event we do have to unite."
